Silverstone Rally School Backs Junior Formula 1000 Rally Championship for 2026, Strengthening Pathway for Future Stars

The Junior Formula 1000 Rally Championship has announced today that Silverstone Rally School will serve as its main supporter for the 2026 season, marking an exciting new chapter in a partnership that already spans many successful years. While the school has long been a valued supporter of the championship, this expanded role represents a major step forward in their shared mission to nurture the next generation of rally talent.

As part of this strengthened collaboration, Silverstone Rally School will host two exclusive driver-development workshops and a dedicated mid-season test session, offering young competitors unprecedented access to elite coaching and hands-on experience at one of the UK's most respected rally training facilities.

A Partnership Built on History — and Ready for the Future

Silverstone Rally School's connection to the Junior F1000 Rally Championship is rooted in a shared passion for developing young drivers. Over the years, the school has supported the series through training opportunities, expert guidance, and a consistent presence within the rallying community. Their decision to elevate their involvement for 2026 underscores their belief in the championship's role as a vital pathway for emerging talent.

With more than three decades of experience, Silverstone Rally School has become synonymous with high-quality rally education. Thousands of drivers — from complete beginners to future champions — have passed through its programmes, benefiting from its rigorous coaching, technical expertise, and unwavering commitment to safety and skill development.

A Step Up in Support

Dan Chester, Owner of Silverstone Rally School, expressed his excitement about deepening the relationship:

"We're incredibly excited to support the Junior F1000 Rally Championship for 2026. We've enjoyed a strong relationship with the series for many years, and stepping up our involvement feels like the natural next step. Helping young drivers develop their craft has always been at the heart of what we do, and this championship represents the future of our sport. We can't wait to play a bigger role in guiding the next wave of top-class rally talent."

The two workshops planned for the season will cover essential rallying skills — from pre-event preparation and car control to mindset, fitness, and working effectively with engineers. The mid-season test session will give competitors valuable seat time and feedback ahead of the 2nd half of the year, helping both newcomers and returning drivers continue the season with confidence.

A Major Boost for 2026

Championship Coordinator Chris Davies has welcomed the expanded partnership:

"Silverstone Rally School has supported the championship for a long time, and we're thrilled to see that relationship grow even further for 2026. Their experience, reputation, and passion for developing young drivers make them the perfect partner. We're extremely grateful for their increased support and excited for what this will bring to our competitors throughout the season."

Chris also emphasised that the enhanced training opportunities will strengthen the championship's position as one of the most effective and accessible entry points into rallying.

Looking Ahead

With Silverstone Rally School stepping up as the main supporter, the 2026 Junior F1000 Rally Championship is set to deliver its most comprehensive development programme yet. The combination of competitive rallying, structured coaching, and real-world testing experience will give young drivers the tools they need to progress confidently through the ranks.

The partnership reflects a shared commitment to ensuring the sport remains vibrant, competitive, and full of opportunity for the next generation.
